

Statement on new Canadian government proposal to force injections on employees and travellers

The Ontario Civil Liberties Association opposes the Canadian government proposal to force employees and travellers to be injected with vaccine products.

This is an egregious violation of fundamental rights, an assault against personal integrity and dignity, and an attack against control over one's own body.

There is no palpable reason for the injection campaign, beyond the media frenzy and constructed institutional bias surrounding COVID-19.

To our knowledge, the government has not made or reported scientific investigations to analyze and characterize the contents of batches of the vaccine products for substances and toxicity. The government has not performed independent analytical tests on these novel pharmaceutical products that are made for profit and injected directly into the bodies of citizens.

The government's motivation on the eve of the coming federal election is clearly to create a wedge issue. Such political exploitation, using a massively promoted health pretext, is unconscionable. It is wrong. All Canadians should be gravely concerned.
